WEDNESDAY, APRIL 11

SITE 131 Opening and Art Chat

5:00 pm - 8:00 pm

SITE 131, 131 Payne Street

Opening reception for FRAGMENTS and Art Chat with visiting guest artist Manuel Burgener from Switzerland, who will converse with Director/Curator Joan Davidow. As its first resident artist, SITE131 welcomes artist Burgener, who will build large-scaled, open constructions from found industrial materials. He'll work in Dallas for a week gathering his resources and building his concepts that utilize the floors and hug the corners. Travis Lycar from Germany will show how his oversized paintings hold the walls: his jagged, halting painted marks fill rich, oversized canvases. Conceptual California artist Puppies Puppies joins the exhibition isolating the trigger apparatus from manufactured guns. Her haunting constructions dissect the destructive portion of the gun to focus on the key element doing so much harm in our society today. Rounding out the foursome is Texas/US artist Kelly Kroener, who imbeds hand-tooled stitches on fabric to pinpoint her delicate approach to mark making.

Nancy A. Nasher and David J. Haemisegger Family SOLUNA International Music & Art Festival: Eyes as Bright as Diamonds

Morton H. Meyerson Symphony Center, 2301 Flora Street, Dallas, 75201

5:45PM

Jen Ray, Sarah Jaffe, Dallas Art Fair, Booker T. Washington High School Tap Dancers; The Haltom Drumline, The Haltom High School Color Guard, Musicians of the Dallas Symphony Orchestra, SMU Ballroom. This newly commissioned performance explores the dark glamour of American life, its history of transformation and reinvention. A female singer and squads of women unite to create a sense of pageantry, celebration and tension.

The Power Station Exhibition Opening: ADAM GORDON

7:00 p.m. - 9:00 p.m.

The Power Station, 3816 Commerce Street, Dallas, 75226

Adam Gordon's multi-disciplinary practice centers on the framing of personal experience. Shifting between totalizing installations, constructed encounters, video, and photo-realistic paintings, his work trains our attention toward everyday existence. While the form is fluid, the effect remains uncanny: a dimly lit room clouded with crippled debris, painted snapshots of shadowy spaces, persons and places with specious identities. These are the impressions of our own otherness, reality distilled out of itself. Rather than tangible object, Gordon draws the viewer's focus towards the void and its indistinct physicality. Constructed from the banal, these hollow space, become charged with a haunting density. Adam Gordon lives and works in New York, NY, and received his MFA from Yale University in 2011. He has had solo exhibitions at Chapter NY; Galleria Zero, Milan; Night Gallery, LA; and Hunter/Whitfield, London. Gordon's work has been included in group exhibitions at Andrew Kreps, NY; National Exemplar, NY; and Boates Fine Arts, São Paulo.

Jay DeFeo Works on Paper from the 1970s curated by Paul Galvez

3:00 p.m. – 5:00 p.m. - Open house

4:00 p.m - 4:30 p.m - Private exhibition walkthrough with curator Paul Galvez.

136 Glass Street , Dallas, TX 75207 - USA

Object Lessons: Jay DeFeo Works on Paper from the 1970s is the galerie frank elbaz's first solo exhibit in Dallas of American artist Jay DeFeo, an important figure in postwar art known for her inventive experimentations with media.

In the decade after completing the monumental work The Rose (1958-66), now in the collection of the Whitney Museum of American Art, New York, DeFeo entered one of the most creative periods of her life, producing drawings, collages, photocopy works, and gelatin silver prints in varying scales. In these works, everyday objects are transformed, undergoing an extraordinary range of metamorphoses, from abstract sign to ghostly photocopy. This exhibition gives particular emphasis to the tripod and the compass, favored tools of DeFeo's trade. Together, these series demonstrate DeFeo's ability to make an art of utmost intensity and intimacy out of even the most prosaic object, an experimental attitude that continued into the 1980s until the year of her death at age 60 in 1989.

Join us for a private exhibition walkthrough with curator Paul Galvez.

Live-painting Performance | MIWA KOMATSU: Spiritual Guardians

6:00 pm - 7:30 pm

Fashion Industry Gallery park, 1807 Ross Avenue, Dallas, 75201

Miwa Komatsu, an emerging Japanese artist, will be looking forward to her first ever live-painting performance in the United States. Introduced by the media as Chihiro Ogino, the protagonist from the cartoon film Spirited Away because of the resemblance of characters, the style of Komatsu can be traced back to her childhood: experiences of being present at the final moment of animals led the artist to form her unique view of life and death. Through depicting various spiritual animals, the artist manages to construct her distinct mystical Universe. Whitestone Gallery's booth will introduce Miwa Komatsu's latest works and several significant creations, including her Guardian series. The artist will also be present at the booth throughout the Fair to share her view with the audience and invite them into her vividly deep dynamism of spirituality. Whitestone Gallery cordially welcomes you to visit and experience.

The Warehouse – Open House

9:00 a.m. – 11:00 a.m.

14105 Inwood Rd, Farmers Branch, TX 75244

The Warehouse is a project initiated by Howard Rachofsky and Vernon Faulconer to make their collections available to curators, scholars, critics and students, and to open new dialogues about post-war modern and contemporary art. At the heart of the project is an adapted industrial building containing art storage facilities, an extensive library, and 18,000 square feet of flexible exhibition space. Here, The Warehouse presents carefully considered, original exhibitions of works from the Rachofsky collections, complemented by art acquired jointly with the Dallas Museum of Art and works on loan from other significant institutions and private collections.

For exhibitors only. RSVP required. Please RSVP to Caitlin Overton at caitlin@rachofskyhouse.org

Discussion: The Haas Brothers

10:00 a.m. - 11:00 a.m.

Nasher Sculpture Center, 2001 Flora St., Dallas, 75201

Presented by ArtNews.

Each object the Haas Brothers make is a goofy character from a bizarre, technicolor, alien ecosystem—whether a furry chair with horns and feet, a ceramic vessel that looks like an underwater coral with wiggly tentacles, or a brass stool with knock-kneed legs. Imagination, hilarity, inclusivity, connection, conversation, acceptance, shamelessness—and most of all, magic—these are the values anchoring the utopia that spills out of the Haas Brothers' studio.

FREE with admission. FREE for Members.

Complimentary with Dallas Art Fair pass. RSVP to RSVP@nashersculpturecenter.org.

Panel Discussion: Reinventing the Museum

12:00 pm - 1:00 pm

Fashion Industry Gallery, 1807 Ross Avenue, Dallas, 75201

How can we, artists, gallerists and arts professionals activate the dialogue about the interplay of the arts and social change? Historically, museums have been institutions that care for collections of artistic, cultural, historical and scientific importance and make them accessible for public viewing through exhibitions that may be permanent or temporary. Museums have varying aims, ranging from serving researchers and specialists to serving the public at large. With the digitization of collections, museums have never had a wider audience. According to The World Museum Community, there are more than 55,000 museums in 202 countries and at least 380 museums in Texas. What propels us to want and need museums? What is their role in our ever-changing society? Is it possible to reinvent the idea of the museum and why should we try? These are some of the questions we hope to address today. Why does the City of Dallas need The Museum of Street Culture at Encore Park?

Panel Discussion: The Art Market

2:00 p.m.

Beck Imaginarium, 1807 Ross Avenue, Dallas, 75201

Quixotic in nature, the art market is one of the most unregulated markets in the world of commodities. But is there not rhyme to reason? Our panel of artist, gallerist, auctioneer, and collector reflects on the system of art exchange from a diverse set of perspectives. Come question, enlighten and learn from this year's 'Student Sunday' way forward on how we value artwork, the artist, and our investments in the ever evolving cultural dynamics of contemporary visual art.
